

GREEK AND LATIN M.A.

All students must meet the Requirements for the Master's Degree (<http://catalogue.uvm.edu/graduate/degreerequirements/requirementsforthemastersdegree/>)

OVERVIEW

Our program emphasizes mastery of general philological skills in Greek and Latin, in preparation for further training at the doctoral level, teaching in public and private high schools, and a variety of other interesting paths. Current faculty research interests include Mycenaean and Homeric Greece; Greek and Latin lyric poetry; Greek drama; Attic orators; ancient literary criticism; Greek and Roman philosophy and intellectual history; Greek and Roman historiography; Latin epic and satire; Greek and Roman technical authors; Roman imperial families; mythology; the Ancient Near East and Egypt; ancient music and performance.

SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for Admission to Graduate Studies for the Degree of Master of Arts

An undergraduate major or minor or the equivalent; Greek and Latin language skills sufficient to take advanced courses (usually at least 2 years of each); a reading knowledge of a modern foreign language, usually French, German, or Italian.

Minimum Degree Requirements

Track A (Non-Thesis)
30 credits of graded course work. The 30 credits of course work consist of:
24 credits of GKLT 381 A (Latin Seminar) and B (Greek Seminar). Each seminar involves the work of the cross-listed 200-level literature seminar, usually supplemented by a prose composition component and/or research paper.	24
6 additional credits of advanced courses in Greek, Latin, Classics, or approved credits in related fields	6

Most students should expect to follow Track A, since maximum exposure to language and literature is usually most beneficial at this stage-of-career. The development of research and writing samples for subsequent Ph.D. applications comes rather from 4 research papers (1 per semester).

Track B (Thesis), by permission
24 credits of graded course work plus at least 6 credits of thesis research (GKLT 391), and successful completion and defense of a master's thesis. The 24 credits of course work consist of:
18 credits of GKLT 381 (Seminar). Each seminar involves the work of the cross-listed 200-level literature seminar, supplemented by a prose composition component and/or research paper.	18

6 additional credits in Greek, Latin, Classics, or approved credits in related fields.	6
--	---

Track B (Thesis) is by permission of the Faculty, and is reserved for those with sufficiently advanced philological skill; minimally candidates must have passed the Greek and Latin Exams by the beginning of the third semester.

Both Tracks
Comprehensive Examinations (see below)

Comprehensive Examination

Comprehensive Exams may be taken in the first and last 2 weeks of Fall and Spring semesters. The Exams are in the following subjects:

- Greek and Latin sight translation of passages from the department's reading list (this exam must be attempted at the start of the third semester; if not passed on the first attempt, it may be retaken at the start of the fourth)
- Greek and Roman History
- Literature and Philology
- Modern Language (student must demonstrate reading knowledge of German (preferred), French, or Italian, sufficient to conduct research in that language)

Requirements for Advancement to Candidacy for the Degree of Master of Arts

Completion of all requirements listed above for either the non-thesis or thesis Track.
